LONDON

rom the sea between Calais and Dunkerque

The night-long London air attack began at 8 36 p m (2 36 p m Marion time)

Hundreds of anti-aircraft guns roared into action as the first raiders approached the city London thus got the noisiest night of the war

It was a radical change in tactics of ground defenses, which hitherto had directed their fire at specific targets The screen of iron was likened by observers to artillery barrages thrown down in the World war to protect advancing troops

Some of the raiders were forced to turn back with bombs still in their racks. At least two were shot down over the city

The new London defense tactic of throwing up a rapid-fire "eat-o'-nine-tails" barrage was officially credited with having greatly impeded the German assault.

"It must have struck terror into the hearts of Nazi airmen," said the semi-official British press association

Formation Broken Up

'Time after time, it broke up large formations of bombers and either brought them down or turned them back"

Only 20 bombs exploded in central London in contrast to many hundreds in previous night raids, but "suicide squads" combed the capital in search of delayed-action explosives such as blasted a corner of Buckingham palace on Tuesday 48 hours after it fell from the skies The "suicide squads" pack the crater with earth and sandbags and the danger zone is roped off until after the explosion

PRESIDENT

He interpolated often At the start he brought laughter by laying down his prepared speech and asserting he was "in a quandary" because he couldn't tell whether the address was "political" or not. He said he would throw himself on the indulgence of the union, the radio companies and the public at large.

Mr Roosevelt reserved for the latter part of his speech the renewed pledge to do all in his power to keep this country at peace

Declaring that weakness in these days was a "cordial invitation to attack," he brought loud applause when he added

"I hate war now more than ever I have one supreme determination—to do all I can to keep war away from these shores for all time"

Pledge Against War

Then, as the audience cheered again, he said

"I stand, with my party, and outside of my party as president of all the people, upon the platform adopted in Chicago

"'We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack"

Not once did the President mention by name either the Republican party or its presidential standard bearer, Wendell L Willkie, who is about to begin an extensive campaign swing through 17 states

He led up to the question of compulsory service for recalcitrant industry by asserting that it was necessary that "every dollar of capital' share in the defense effort just as well as the men in the fighting forces and workers behind the lines.

He said the nation was about to adopt selective universal training of its young men and that, on the same principle, "no reasonable person can object to giving the government the power to acquire the services of any plant or factory for adequate compensation, if the owner refuses to make its services available to the defense needs of the nation"

Says Idea Not New

"This is nothing new in American life," he asserted "The principle of eminent domain or eminent use is as old as democratic government itself"

Applause swept the hall when he added "no business is above its government, and government should be empowered to deal adequately with any business which tries to rise above its government."

Asserting that "certain employers, politicians and newspapers—all of whom are now active in this campaign—tried to "mislead and intimidate labor' in 1936 by putting notices in pay envelopes to help "smash the new social security act," he said

'That kind of opposition comes only too often from those who regularly for three years and eight months block labor's welfare, and then for four months lonely proclaim that they are labor's true friends—from those who love the laboring man in November and forget him in January."

FORMER ROOSEVELT FOE WINS IN GEORGIA

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Sept. 12—Eugene Talmadge, one-time outspoken foe of the Roosevelt administration, won a third term as governor of Georgia in a Democratic primary in which he promised voters he would "support the Democratic ticket" in the national election

Virtually complete, unofficial returns from yesterday's voting showed the lawyer-farmer won another gubernatorial term over two opponents after a four-year retirement. Nomination in the primary is tantamount to election in Democratic Georgia

Talmadge was given a popular vote of 141,153 for a county unit vote of 346 Columbus Roberts, wealthy Columbus dairy farmer and business man, received a popular vote of 87,205 and a county unit vote of 52 Abit Nix, Athens attorney making his third race for the governorship, trailed with a popular vote of 33,166 which gave him only 12 unit votes.

OHIO FACES LOSS OF SEAT IN CONGRESS

Census Report Will Determine State's Representation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—Census officials, reporting that preliminary figures on Ohio's 1940 population would be available soon, said the state's increase over 1930 would be less than 7 per cent.

If that percentage is lower than the national increase, there is a possibility that the state will lose one of its house of representatives seats.

The population in 1930 was 6 646,697, giving Ohio 24 representatives under the present apportionment method.

The state was allowed a representative for each 279,712 residents and an additional one for the fractional remainder. The 279 712 figure was fixed by dividing the total population by 435, the number of house members

Ohio would need a population of 7,200,000 to retain its present representation if the national population for 1940 went to 132,000,000 as expected The 1930 U S population was about 121 000,000

olis with Sen Charles L McNary of Oregon, vice presidential candidate, National Chairman Joseph W Martin and Gov Harold E Stassen of Minnesota.

The four agreed to talk over an October itinerary for Willkie as well as questions of party policy and campaign organization

Returning here late in the afternoon, Willkie will pack his bags for departure on a special train which will take him to the Pacific coast and back to the east During that trip he will make 89 speeches — two-thirds of them from the train platform

One of his major issues probably at Amarillo, Texas next Tuesday will deal with the third term issue of which Willkie told reporters yesterday

"It is not alone the continuation in office of Franklin D Roosevelt, but of a group in whose hands there has been concentrated an enormous amount of power'

"This concentration is a destructive thing to democracy It is a line of force that should be broken"

Willkie expressed this opinion while seated beside Frank Gannett, Rochester, N Y, publisher who was a candidate against him for the nomination The two men described the third-term issue as "one of the greatest of the campaign."

Gannett asserted that if President Roosevelt should be re-elected, "I believe it would be impossible to preserve our two-party system"

Willkie was asked by a reporter whether he believed that "indispensability feeds upon itself"

At first he said, "Indispensability, like jealousy, creates the food whereon it feeds" Then he walked across the room, thumbed through a well-worn copy of Shakespeare and quoted from Othello:

"Beware, my lord, of jealousy It is the greeneyed monster which doth make the meat it feeds upon"

Another caller yesterday was Alvin M Owsley of Dallas, Tex, former national commander of the American Legion, who pledged his support to the G O P standard bearer He was a delegate to the 1932 convention which nominated Mr Roosevelt and spoke in his behalf during that campaign

Owsley described both Willkie and himself as "liberal Democrats, called the nominee 'the most dynamic personality that has come upon the political horizon in our generation" and stated his opposition to a third term for any president

The nominee's first four speeches will be made tomorrow in Chicago, most of them before groups of industrial workers Willkie will travel through Illinois and Iowa on Saturday, spend Sunday quietly in Kansas City, and make a major address Monday at Coffeyville, Kans, where he once taught high school history.

Going To Stay in Bed Tomorrow? You'd Better, if Your Superstitious

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
Associated Press Writer

Tomorrow is Friday the Thirteenth.

Some people are so superstitious about it they won't get out of their beds, and maybe it's just as well. If they did, there would be a good chance something would happen to them. Science says so.

"Science doesn't take any stock in superstitions," says Dr. Lawrence W. Miller of the University of Denver, a psychologist well versed in the reasons behind human behavior.

"Nevertheless, if you are desperately fearful something is going to happen to you on Friday the Thirteenth, it is well to stay in bed.

"You may be so upset you'll be off your guard or you may concentrate so deeply on one fear that your alertness to other dangers will be diminished.

"Something entirely different from what you had expected and planned a defense against, may happen and take you unawares. Thus trouble catches up with you on Friday the Thirteenth."

Some superstitions, according to Dr. Miller, are good for people.

"There were superstitions about crime, adultery and property rights in olden times," says Dr. Miller. "For instance, the ghost of the victim was supposed to inhabit a murderer's soul and torment it.

"Such beliefs tended to restrain murderous or criminal inclinations at a time when there were neither laws nor policemen."

Only A Guess

Many superstitions are dated so far in antiquity nothing authentic is known of their origin. It's only a guess how many modern ones were started.

"Some students say the common superstition that it is bad luck to light three on a match had its origin in recent wars," says Dr. Miller.

"If a soldier lighted his cigaret and kept the match burning long enough for two or more other men to get a light, enemy sharpshooters had time to take careful aim and fire upon the match holder."

People who knock on wood to keep ill luck from intruding, usually after they have made a boast, are observing a ritual that once was a religious one.

"In ancient times pious peoples touched a wooden cross as a form of supplication," says Dr. Miller.

"It was a prayer. They believed the cross cast a spell of good fortune about them. And so knocking on wood became an invitation to good luck."

The horseshoe probably is a sign of good luck because the horse has been a friend of man, Dr. Miller says.

Other things, like four-leaf clovers, are good luck symbols because a series of coincidences probably occurred in which a person had good luck immediately after he found, or otherwise had some association with, a four-leaf clover or other object.

From Days Of Black Magic.

Similarly cats and witches are symbols of ill luck. Incidentally, says Dr. Miller, the black cat superstitution dates back to the age of black magic when darkness was a symbol of eerie things. People looked askance at anything black.

In one state a recent study disclosed 4,000 superstitions held by various citizens.

A Day of Double Trouble

For the superstitious there's a double dose of ill luck on Friday the Thirteenth. Both Friday and 13 are associated with the goddess of trouble.

Friday probably became an omen of death because of its association with the crucifixion.

The numeral 13 probably first became a similar omen because of the thirteen people, Christ and the 12 apostles, seated at the last supper.

SOLDIERS demonstrate how the "three-on-a-match" superstition originated. A match that burned long enough for three lights gave enemy snipers a good target.

GIRLS depict origin of superstition about knocking on wood. In ancient times people touched a wooden cross to drive off evil spirits. Now we touch wood for good luck.

MEMORY OF THE MOON

by Jeanne Bowman

YESTERDAY: Torn by doubt and conflicting loyalties, Constance hesitates to tell Pedro about her agreement with John. Unexpectedly the Cabrillos arrive, and John takes Constance in his arms in front of Pedro's contemptuous eyes.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR
Avalanche

"—ALL right, take her mount on," ordered John, and flipped at coin at Pedro, whom he had scarcely seen.

"Gracais, senor," said Pedro who pocketed the half dollar and rode off.

"John," groaned Constance, "that was young Taylor."

"What?" John looked after the departing figure. "It was? Oh, well, I'll explain to him later," and he chuckled. "Good sport, he took it like a gentleman; or have the Taylors taking ways with more than money?"

"Must you jump at conclusions?" asked Constance. "But come in. Where are the others? How did you happen to come west?"

She plied him with questions while her heart sank lower and lower. For Pedro to have seen John's greeting after their own scene on the mountain. How could she explain? Fatherly friends do not embrace their charges as John had embraced her, nor call them darling?

John had never embraced her in that fashion before.

She couldn't explain. Pedro would laugh at her. Pedro wouldn't believe her and she wouldn't blame him.

"Chez-ta!"

Constance gasped. Donna, who hadn't bothered to bid her farewell, was running to her with wide open arms. "Oh, you're exquisite. You look so . . . so dude ranchy. Darling, who was that simply perfect specimen you rode in with? Don't tell me he was a mere cowhand, because my heart wouldn't stand it. He's real, isn't he? I mean . . . well you know?"

"I know," affirmed Constance dryly, "the perfect specimen is Peter Taylor, junior, the ranch manager's son, and to save your aristocratic nose from touching mid-heaven, he is a college graduate and his father has more money than the Cabrillos. Now, is there anything else you'd like to know about him?"

"Who's his current heart interest?"

Constance thought she had never seen her sister look as piquantly beautiful. She was so perfectly groomed, so vivacious, black eyes sparkling, black hair so sculptured to her pretty head.

"I wouldn't know," Constance evaded. "We discuss dairy herds."

"I'd like to believe that," offered John.

"You can," laughed Donna. "For, I warn you, from now on Peter Taylor and I shall be exhausting the more important subjects."

El Cabrillo buzzed, it hummed, it bubbled. The Cabrillos were home. Constance, enroute to her mother's quarters, fell over servants at every foot of the way. She gave thanks that the Pedersons had moved to their own house; there wouldn't be room for children here.

"Hi' sis," shouted Don from the patio.

"Hello, Don." Timidly Constance made her way towards him. Eagerly, anxious to be friends. "It's good to have you here."

"Some dump," complimented the young squire. "Say there, Juliano, how about a long high one for a dusty throat."

Juliano bent from the waist, nearly to the floor and when he straightened his old eyes were proud—"Si, Senor Don Cabrillo, for you, muy pronto."

Bewildered

"Well, kid, how are things going?"

John sat on the edge of the stone table, once pounded by the fists of Constance and smiled paternally at Don. Don was obviously "feeling his oats." He lolled in a basket chair, long legs through over the arm.

Constance started a report of the ranch, but Don interrupted. "How many rooms here? I mean, how many guests can we house?"

"Guests? Why, Don, I don't know—"

"Senor Cabrillo," Juliano, with the highball, was bowing before him—"in the days of your father's elder brother when I was so," and he indicated small stature, "we have entertained of fifty people over the night."

"Swell, then fifteen won't strain the walls. Our crowd, fifteen of them, are flying up from Santa Barbara for the week end," he explained to Constance, and to Juliano, "I can trust you to do right by them, Juliano."

"Si, si, senor!"

Constance feared for the hips of Juliano, and then her heart seemed squeezed with a sudden fear. But this was Don's home, it wasn't hers alone.

"Where is mother?" Constance asked.

"The Senor Cabrillo, is take la siesta," Juliano informed her. "She is not to be interrupt'!"

Constance sat down.

"The old boy doesn't seem to cotton to you," Don observed as Juliano swaggered out.

"Mutual," murmured Constance. "Where is Lamson?"

"Getting my things squared around."

Don absorbed the conversation while John sat, sending humorous glances of sympathy at Constance.

And Constance sat confused, bewildered. She felt she had been dropped from some cool mountain peak into a valley of turmoil. Her thoughts ran around chaotically. Ten minutes ago she had been in Pedro's arms; now she sat facing John Raskthorne, who had appeared out of thin air to interpret to Pedro the wrong definition of her silence.

And Don's lofty assumption of ownership. Fifteen guests over the week end; the cost. The Cabrillo credit in Beachport was high; Don could have what he asked for. And once learning that, he'd ask for everything he wanted.

Why hadn't she foreseen this?

Why had she merely worried over John's loan. She looked at him anxiously, quickly, and found such an expression of tender concern in his gray eyes, that she looked away.

That handsome distinguished looking man in gray slacks and darker coat was John Raskthorne, the man who believed in her, loved her, and she had doubted him. She had even begrudged him the kiss he'd taken . . . not the kiss . . . but Pedro's having seen the caress.

She must find time alone to sort her thoughts, to regain her poise. After all, the family's visit need not disrupt everything. It wouldn't affect the dairy farm, she could keep that separate from the manor affairs. She must.

Donna, having changed to apricot velvet lounging pyjamas sauntered in and gave Don some competition, and then Juliano, who had been in and out a dozen times, approaching in official dignity.

Celebration

"Judge Franck to see Senorita Conchita Cabrillo," he announced.

"I'll be—" Constance spoke to Juliano's back. It appeared that Juliano had his own ideas of where the senorita was to talk to the judge.

"I'm going to take that honey back with me when I go," purred Donna. "Imagine the girls' faces when they hear 'Senor-reeta-Donnita Cab-reelo.'"

"So you've gone back to your right name," muttered Constance. "Who told you Donna means Mrs.?"

"Wet blanket," spat Donna. "I suppose you'll want Don to be called Donald . . . nasty Scotch name."

"The only thing Scotch about our brother," countered Constance, "is his appetite for it." And then she sighed. They were quarreling again. She didn't have time to say sorry for Juliano was approaching with Judge Franck.

Donna paid little attention to the visitor in his rumpled sack suit, very little attention until he turned to Constance to tell her the reason for his visit.

"Longshore Lumber is planning a celebration at the opening of their camp. Beachport has entered into it with the enthusiasm they usually show for a fiesta of any kind, and it remains for the Cabrillos to give the affair the finishing touch.

"They would like you, Miss Cabrillo, to bring the first train of logs from the camp, across El Cabrillo, and into Beachport."

"Bring . . . a train of logs?" asked Constance.

"Oh, there would be an engineer with you, but they'd like to have you in costume, purportedly at the throttle."

Somehow Donna covered the distance between her chosen chair and the Judge in one quick, fluttering movement. "I'd love it," she cried. "And Judge, I have an adorable costume, black lace over scarlet, and an exquisite mantilla. And could Don ride with me?"

Judge Franck looked beyond Donna to Constance. "The invitation is to Miss Constance Cabrillo. Will you come, Michael?"

"Michael!" shouted Don, and began to laugh. "Boy-oh-boy, is that something! Little Mickey Mahoney. And the lumber company wants a Cabrillo; you'd better let Sis do the honors."

"Don, what are you saying?"

Everyone turned and the Judge arose. Mrs. Cabrillo had quietly entered. "What is the disturbance?" she asked, after greeting the judge and brushing the cheek of Constance, lightly.

Explanations come from every side. Judge Franck cleared his throat. "Mrs. Cabrillo, I think you should be one to make the decision. Miss Constance has been very loyal to our community, and the Longshore Lumber Company wants a Cabrillo to officiate. They want to restore, for an afternoon, the early days."

"Then Donna should be the one," stated Mrs. Cabrillo. "Constance is our little business woman, but she is not a true Cabrillo. I mean, she doesn't resemble the Cabrillos any more than I do."

Judge Franck sent Constance Mrs. Cabrillo's decision, must abide by it.

John Raskthorne, had somehow, reached her side. His hand lay warm on her shoulder.

"The judge," he said, addressing Nadine, "was asking you to suggest Constance. The lumber people, specifically asked for her. You'll accept, of course, Conchita."

Work at New Bowling Alleys Pushed; Early October Opening Is Scheduled

Equipment Being Installed at $36,000 Plant on West Center St.; Leagues Being Formed.

Installation of equipment at Marion's newest bowling center, the Palace Recreation at 295 West Center street, is progressing rapidly and the 12-alley plant will be opened about Oct. 1, Proprietor Al Shull reported today.

Alleys are being constructed and other furnishings for the lobby, lounges, spectator section and service counters will be installed as various shipments arrive Total cost of the new plant is estimated at $36,000

Equipment will include single returns for bowling balls, making it unnecessary for bowlers to cross over another alley to the return rack. The spectator section will include several hundred individual opera seats, while bowlers' benches will be of the circular and upholstered type The interior will be lighted indirectly.

Mr. Shull is directing organization of several leagues, scheduled to open the first week of October A circuit composed of Marion Steam Shovel Co employes has been formed and others now under organization include two women's loops and a 24-team business men's league Bowlers will compete on a handicap basis, 80 per cent of the difference between the averages of two teams being alloted to the squad with the lower average Handicap bowling will permit any quintet to enter the various leagues and compete on an equal basis It helps the ordinary or young bowler compete against veterans, Mr Shull pointed out.

Mr. Shull, who came here from Detroit, Mich., is president of the Postal Employes Bowling association, a national organization. He and Mrs Shull are making their home at 859 East Center street.

Relief Costs Drop in August

Marion's poor relief bill for August was $4,568 44, compared with $5,728 55 for July, Relief Director Frank S Burns reported today.

The decrease in costs was largely the result of a change in the type of relief in many cases Several regular food relief cases were closed and a number of "supplementary" cases, requiring only small amounts of clothing at low cost, were added, Mr Burns said This coincided with the opening of school, many children needing clothing

Case Load Higher

The total relief case load for August was 418 compared with 413 in July.

The 418 cases represented 774 persons, compared with 752 in July

On direct relief there were 330 cases (521 persons) and on work relief 88 cases (253 persons).

The total bill of $4 568 44 included $2,106 67 for direct relief, $850 49 for work relief, $159 95 for medical relief, $639 03 for administration, $11 28 for pre-auditing work $600 12 for supporting federal projects and $300 for industrial insurance

The city started the month in the red $12 174 17 and ended up $15,271 30 in the red

Bond Issue Pending

The city has already started proceedings to issue $40,000 worth of delinquent tax bonds to wipe out the deficit and carry relief costs for some time in the future The issuance has been held up for the time being pending approval of the state tax commission The commission is now awaiting a statement from the city sinking fund trustees that their financial status is such that issuance of the bonds is advisable

After the commission approves the issuance the city council will pass legislation to issue the bonds.

BOOK OF REVELATION EVANGELIST'S TOPIC

Prophecy Needs But Little Interpretation, Speaker Says.

Continuing a discussion of the Book of Revelation at the annual conference of the Young People's Fellowship club of Central Ohio at the Chautauqua pavilion, Dr A. I. Brown, Canadian evangelist, last night declared that Revelation is "not a closed Book," but a living, continuous prophecy which requires little or no interpretation by the reader. He said, in part

"It must be remembered that this great Book, the last in the Bible, is not a closed Book and is not full of symbols which cannot be understood The symbols and explained by the author and we are told definitely in the last chapter that this great prophetic pronouncement is not sealed The history of the Church age is given in the first three chapters The Church is removed to heaven in the first verse of the fourth chapter, when a 'door was opened in heaven' Immediately, we are in the presence of the Throne of God, where judgment is about to begin as Christ prepares to assume His rightful place of authority over a world which has persistently rejected His claims The ursurped control of sin and satan over the affairs of earth is now to come to an end The prayer, Thy Kingdom come, is about to be answered and great is the rejoicing in heaven As preliminary judgments break on the earth, there is absolute consternation Whatever earth-dwellers ever thought of Christ they were sure He would never exhibit wrath But He now proceeds to break the nations and punish their pride and arrogancy A great worldwide revival is pictured in the seventh chapter with 144 000 Jewish evangelists taking the Gospel of the Kingdom to all nations Those accepting this offer become martyrs under Anti-christ"

Tonight Dr Brown will again talk on the Book of Revelations

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you the first rule is get at the cause If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with make-shift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do, meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk" And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Hogs Mainstay of Farm Income in Marion County

O. S U. Survey Shows They Yielded 35 Per Cent of 1939 Total, Rank High in Nearby Counties.

...make fun of the lowly ... least not in Marion ... rather unattractive animal ... ed for 35 per cent of the ... s $3,859,900 income from ... farm products last year. ... more than most of us ... 1939.

... the six counties adjoining ... on county, the hog also ... g money maker, represented anywhere from 14 to 27 per cent of the income. He was the leader in four of the seven counties—Marion, Crawford, ... and Wyandot and ran a close second to dairying in Union and Morrow counties. Hogs were a poor second to the dairy industry in Delaware county in farm income, but they were second.

O. S. U. Survey

All these interesting figures on how much money the farmers made and how they made it are contained in the annual survey made by the department of rural economics at Ohio State university, a copy of which was recently received at the office of County Agricultural Agent Homer Porteus.

Apparently this is hog country around here, since the hog produced only about 17 per cent of the $302,656,000 farm income in the entire state Dairying led with 27 per cent.

In Marion county, the hog led with 35 per cent and dairying was second with 17 per cent. Then in order came poultry 11 per cent, cattle 8, sheep 7, corn 5 and miscellaneous enterprises 17.

In 1938 the income was a little higher — $3,977,100 — and the amounts produced were: Hogs 39 per cent, dairying 16, poultry 12, wheat 8, cattle 7, sheep 5 and miscellaneous 13.

Figures for Previous Years

Annual reports back as far as 1933 for Marion county show a considerable increase in total farm income from sales of products. The totals for years for which reports are available were:

1933—$2,223,000 (no federal payments listed.)

1934—$2,499,500 (not including $289,900 in federal benefit payments.)

1935—$3,344,700 (not including $261,800 in federal benefit payments.)

1936-37—No figures available here.

1938—$3,977,100 (not including $106,100 in federal payments.)

1939—$3,859,900 (not including $444,000 in federal payments.)

Throughout these years the hog has continued as the leading income producer, accounting for from 27 to 39 per cent. Dairying was always second with from 16 to 19 per cent and poultry has been third most of the time with from 10 to 12 per cent. Wheat was third in 1933 with 12 per cent.

Fourth, fifth and sixth places as income producers have been held variously by cattle, wheat, corn, poultry, sheep.

Above State Average

The report for 1939 shows that the average income per farm in Marion county is well above the state average.

In 1939 the state average was $1,263 per farm or $14.10 per acre. In Marion county it was $2,049 per farm or $17 71 per acre.

In 1938 the state average was $1,233 per farm or $13.76 per acre and in Marion county $1,944 per farm or $16 80 per acre.

Thus, while the total farm income for the county declined from 1938 to 1939, the income per farm and per acre rose.

An explanation of the method used in making the survey may be in order. The total income figures listed do not indicate the total value of agricultural production, but only the amount received for that portion sold. Dairying includes all income from sale of dairy products, veal calves and cull dairy cows. Under "cattle" is included income from sale of any cattle for meat purposes except veal calves and cull dairy cows. Sheep includes wool and mutton.

In connection with the total income figures, it might be noted that in 1939 and 1939 the figures are for calendar years, while previously they were for crop years and calendar years depending on the commodity. However, the figures are roughly comparable.

Sales to neighboring farms in the same county are not included in the report.

Mr. Willkie's Bold Move

WHEN Mr. Willkie's campaign starts rolling next Monday, as brittle a state of suspense as ever existed in a presidential campaign will be shattered. Looking back on it, politicos must have wondered how they stood it without chewing off their finger nails.

Mr. Willkie's decision to stay in his corner till the middle of September has been hard enough on Republicans, heaven knows, but think how much harder it has been on Democrats. They have tried to tempt him into the hurly-burly by sending Mr. Ickes, first, then Mr. Wallace after him, but he has refused to come out until he was ready to come out with a rush.

It was a bold move. Some have been saying lately it was too bold because it continued a state of suspense so long that voters became annoyed with Mr. Willkie. That is wide open to doubt. It may be argued just as plausibly that next Monday when Mr. Willkie opens the speaking tour which will carry him through all parts of the country he will get more attention for what he has to say than if he had started to say it a month earlier. As for those who claim to have been annoyed by his informality and what they call his wise cracking, it might be said they have not been able to ignore his presence on the political scene.

For years strategists have played with the idea of a short campaign and a merry one. Mr. Willkie and his advisers, tyros in politics for the most part, but capable handlers of public opinion nevertheless, have had the courage to try something new. Their experiment may turn out unsuccessfully, but if straw votes mean anything the public is standing by sympathetically for the beginning of the whirlwind campaign which Willkie workers are counting on for victory in November.

America's Playing Fields

PERHAPS the British aren't going to win their war on the "playing fields of Eton" this time. But here in America the flawless teamwork of dozens of powerful football teams is demonstrating again what will happen when the nation's young men turn their energy to military account.

Teamwork doesn't just happen. Two things lie behind it—practice and a state of mind. Most boys have both long before they have a chance to play football on a real team. They break in on an odd game known as vacant lot football where the neighborhood fat boy, a tough kid called Whitey, a pee-wee who wears glasses but isn't afraid of anything, two tomboy girls and the kid who owns the football organize a team and go up against all comers.

They make up strategy as they go along. "Let's run it right over Dogface," says the pee-wee, but Whitey cools him off. "Wait'll you grow up," he growls. "I'm going to run to the brick pile over there in the corner and Elmer here is going to pass the ball right into my arms. Whoever wants to get at me has to figure the angles on the brick pile, see, and we'll make a touchdown."

It's a hard school the kids keep for one another on vacant lots in the fall, as hard as the one they keep there in the summer when they're playing baseball, or in the spring when they're potting marbles. If America has anything stored up against a showdown with gangs from other sections which want to play rough, that's where it came from.

Unfinished Business

CHECKING over some of the tag ends lopping over into the last third of the momentous year 1940 one runs across the unanswered question of John Nance Garner's continued absence from his post of duty.

While there has been no complaint in Washington dispatches of Mr. Garner's absence from the city and everybody seems to have forgotten him as though he were an Empress Eugenie hat, there are certain facts to be considered.

One of them is that congress is in session and the government still functions from Washington. Another is that Mr. Garner is not sick, but simply fed up with the way things are going. Another is that Mr. Garner's term of office runs until 12 o'clock sharp next Jan. 20, and he has been away since the latter part of last July, with apparently no intention of coming back. As presiding officer of the senate, there has been no time in his public career when there was more need for him to be on the job than there is right now. Incidentally, he gets paid for filling the job and rather well—$15,000 a year.

A lot of Mr. Garner's countrymen who would prefer fishing to plugging away at the things they're paid to do would like to know whether or not Mr. Garner is going to resign and it not why not—unless, of course, he comes back to work and quickly.

News Behind the News

Britain OK as Long as Germans Stage Long Night, Short Day Air Raids.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 — As long as the flashes from London tell of long night and short day raids, you may feel reasonably sure the British are not near the end. The Goering plan of throwing his waves of bombers in nine-hour after dark assaults, while curtailing his daytime bolts to sporadic forays, is a tell-tale disclosure to the initiated that the British have not yet been conquered in the air.

Paul Mallon

If Goering starts nine-hour day raids, then watch out. It may well mean British air resistance is broken.

Every stone of London could be crumbled to dust without necessarily causing defeat. The really vital point involved is whether Churchill can keep enough fighting planes on hand to thwart the beaching of German boats on British shores. Britain will not fall until her army is beaten. It cannot be beaten by civic destruction.

Two Schools

This at any rate has been the preponderant view of our military authorities who have been sitting on the edge of their chairs watching the incoming dispatches. It is true there is another school among them. Some of our air officers have faith in the ability of the air arm alone to break the backbone morale of an enemy. They cite Warsaw and Rotterdam, but in both cases the cities were actually conquered by an army at their gates. In both cases also the cities were the last defended bastions of retreating armies. The situation of London is different. Some three million undefeated soldiers are under arms around the island. Their ports are open to all the food producing nations of the world, and they have the money to buy and the ships to carry.

The air-minded school holds that destruction of water mains, gas supply, electrical energy, would, when added to the destruction of docking facilities, cause resistless civilian pressure upon the government for a negotiated peace. They expected the constantly increasing severity of destruction would cause ousting of the Churchill government and establishment of a peace party in control. (Everyone agrees Britain will never give in as long as Churchill is at the top.)

This no doubt reflects Hitler's aim and he has proven himself in the past surprisingly correct in his unique military theories.

But the prevailing opinion from the beginning of the bombing here has been that Hitler cannot win without defeating the army, cannot defeat the army without invasion, cannot invade until he gets air superiority. And the experience of London is only a great dramatic sideshow which cannot be decisive.

The next week or 10 days should tell the tale.

Willkie

The Republican high command has not paid as much attention to the let-down in the Wilkie campaign as has the press. Those who have been to the Willkie camp in Rushville report that the candidate deliberately planned to ease down the tempo in preparation for the final drive. The rhythm has been carefully arranged for the future to lead up gradually to a high pitch the last two weeks before election day. The leaders seem fairly well pleased with this new way of doing things, remembering that the Landon campaign had its letdown after Oct. 1.

Critical Republican congressmen have been quieted also by the latest private advices on improvement in Republican organizing. Willkie has been spending every free moment for weeks consulting Republican organization specialists. Only complaints now seem to come from business men inexperienced in politics who are regretting that the Republican nominee did not keep the offensive.

"Fresh Out"

Mr. Roosevelt has been in the switches for days on the new labor board chairman. He held up the reappointment of Madden on advices from his senate leaders that the nomination could not be confirmed. Also Madden does not have the personal approval of A. F. of L. directors, who must be kept pleased with an election in the offing.

Scouting about for someone else who was sufficiently obscure to satisfy both A. F. of L. and C.I.O., and yet get past the senate, he first hit upon a 67-year-old college professor who was inclined to turn it down because of his years. Then came another poll of the senate by Senator Thomas of Utah indicating Madden might be pushed through under strong White House pressure, although an awkward fight could not be avoided. All through this the White House has been afraid Willkie would get hold of the embarassing situation and make capital of it.

When asked what the President would do a few days back, one of his leading advisers replied:

"Mr. Roosevelt seems to be fresh out of Harvard lawyers."

It was Sunday, Sept. 12, 1920.

Rev. J. D. Darling, new pastor of Wesley M. E. church, preached his first sermons there, morning and evening. Devotional services were conducted by the former pastor, Rev. E. A. Strother, who was to take charge of his new pastorate at Bradford, Shelby county, the following Sunday.

A delegation of Harding-Coolidge supporters was on its way from California aboard a special train and was to arrive here for presentation to Senator Harding Tuesday morning. Gov. William D. Stephens of California was to be spokesman for the visitors who were to be addressed by Senator Harding. Members of the California party wired ahead that they had found widespread suppoft of the Republican ticket as they journeyed toward Marion from the Pacific coast. The telegram was sent from Kearney, Neb., and carried the news that Republican men and women leaders, senatorial and gubernatorial candidates and crowds of citizens generally had greeted the group all along the line, including Sacramento, Reno, Ogden and Cheyenne. Senator Reed Smoot and a large party had journeyed from Salt Lake City to Ogden to meet the delegation. Governor Stephens was already in Marion waiting to meet the party of pilgrims, having been here since "governors' day" at the Harding front porch on Aug. 31. In the California delegation were two former Ohioans who would see their native state again for the first time in many years. One was Grover P. Ayres, retired San Francisco capitalist who formerly lived in Cincinnati, and the other was F. C. Roberts, Long Beach publisher, who worked in a hay-rake factory in Marion for a number of years up to 1876. He left here in that year to manage a baseball club at Quincy.

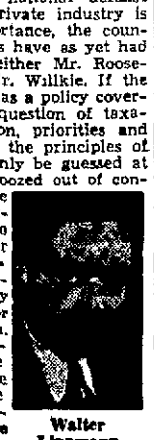
Need Seen for Clearer Policy Regarding Private Industry and Defense Program.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

ALTHOUGH the relation between the national defense program and private industry is of critical importance, the country and congress have as yet had no help from either Mr. Roosevelt or from Mr. Willkie. If the administration has a policy covering the whole question of taxation, amortization, priorities and commandeering, the principles of its policy can only be guessed at from what has oozed out of congressional debate and the committee-hearings. No policy has ever been stated consistently and authoritatively by Mr. Roosevelt or his spokesmen. As for Mr. Willkie, though the subject is one upon which he might be supposed to have clear and considered views, he has thus far contributed exactly nothing. It is impossible to discover his views because he has never stated them.



Walter Lippmann

On the other hand each candidate has done much to confuse and obstruct a lucid and objective solution of the problem. Mr. Roosevelt raised a costly and unnecessary obstruction when he insisted that the simple amortization provision, which required immediate action, be tied up with a complex "excess profits" bill which could and should have been considered carefully.

And Mr. Roosevelt confused the question when he put his primary emphasis upon preventing the rise of "war millionaires" rather than upon obtaining a tax program which will put private industry to work for the national defense. Mr. Willkie's contribution to the confusion of the public mind has been a series of hurried statements, progressively less wide of the mark as he kept on shooting them out, about one subordinate and incidental aspect of the whole problem—namely the power to commandeer.

So on this great matter the country has had no leadership from its leaders.

Extent of Confusion

The extent of the confusion may be measured by the fact that virtually all public attention has become centered upon the procedure and the legal formulae by which congress shall reaffirm the power of the government to commandeer property for defense. The fact of the matter is that though this power must exist if the defense program is to be successful, yet the program will surely be a catastrophic failure if the power has to be used much or often. For it is obvious that the United States government would be totally incapable of administering a large number of industrial plants if it did actually commandeer them.

This country knows how to operate industry as a whole through private management; it does not know how to operate industry as a whole, or any considerable part of it, by government manageemnt. To change over from the system we understand to a different system which we not not understand would simply stall the whole industrial machine.

It follows that the power to commandeer must be held in reserve in order to bring recalcitrant individuals into line. It can

By ROBERT A. TAFT
U. S. Senator from Ohio

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT is appealing for a third term, in violation of the principles of the American republic, largely on the ground that he has been the only true exponent of preparedness and is the only man competent to carry on a preparedness program. While substantial progress has been made in the last few months, the history of the last seven years shows that no one could possibly have been more incompetent in preparedness for defense than the New Deal administration.

In accordance with the platform of 1932, President Roosevelt reduced the expenditure for the army and navy during his first year. Adolf Hitler came into power in Germany in January, 1933, and the seven years of the present administration saw the rise of the German army from 100,000 to 4,000,000 men, with the most modern mechanical equipment. If we waked up suddenly to find ourselves unprepared to meet a possible attack by Germany, it could only have been the fault of the present administration.

THE causes of unpreparedness were inherent in the New Deal. When the first emergency blank check for $3,300,000,000 was voted by congress in 1933, it was proposed that $2,000,000,000 be spent for mechanization of the army. The President rejected the proposal, and turned is over to PWA for all kinds of public works.

Untold billions have been spent, but for purposes having a much closer relation to making votes than to making ships. New Deal types of spending have been the first love of the administration, but comparatively little has gone for defense because the voting public were not interested at that time.

There was not even a plan for preparedness. The possibility of German victory has always existed, and should at least have been provided for. On May 16, 1940, the President requested a billion dollars to put us in good defense condition. Two weeks later he asked for another billlion. Now he is demanding another bill for five billion dollars more. Even on May 31, when the Germans had broken through in Belgium, he was satisfied with an army of 280,000. Now he wants 1,200,000. Certainly the first program and the second program must have been hastily thrown together, without thinking anything through. Even today we don't know just how much territory we are going to defend.

SEN. ROBERT A. TAFT

OF COURSE money is essential for an adequate defense plan. The public debt is already fifty billion dollars. When we began the World war it was less than a billion. The excess profits tax will raise less than two hundred million, and the deficit is going to be six billion. In the absence of an adequate tax plan, we face bankruptcy and inflation. Not a cent is being saved on domestic expenses. The New Deal has shown its complete incompetence and lack of interest in any sound fiscal program essential to defense.

The New Deal is still inspired by hostility to industry, and an unwillingness to abate any single feature of excessive government regulation. These regulations have slowed the construction of our navy and hampered all industrial mobilization.

The President is unwilling to create a War Resources Administration, and give its head full discretion to develop and carry out an industrial mobilization program. While Mr. Knudsen is doing an excellent job, his position is purely advisory, and the moment a New Deal influence affects the President, Mr. Knudsen's plans may be upset overnight. Thus was the first Stettinius commission abolished after the first two months of the present war in Europe.

If the country wants a carefully thought out program of national defense, soundly and adequately financed, decisively administered, it cannot hope to get it from the present administration.

Marion - Prospect Couple Announce 1939 Nuptial Vows

MRS. R. H. THIBAUT

MRS. R. H. THIBAUT, the former Miss June Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Price of 200 South Grand avenue, chose the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of her parents to announce her marriage to Richard H. Thibaut, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Thibaut of Prospect. The wedding took place Aug. 18, 1939, at Newport, Ky., with Rev. M. N. Creamer of the Salem Evangelical church reading the ceremony at his home. The bride wore a blue ensemble with pink accessories. Mrs. Ralph Gaster of Marion was her only attendant.

The Stars Say—

For Friday, Sept. 13

THIS promises to be a day of enterprise and initiative, to be pushed to the bent of the energies, but observing some discretion as to outlay of funds and extravagance, as the tendency to over-enthusiasm might carry beyond the depths of finance There is need for reserve and restraint all along the line Be cautious with papers, letters, all writings, since there are hints of treachery or misconstruction There are auguries for intrigue and subtlety

Those whose birthday it is may have an active and enterprising year in which much productive work may be accomplished However it would be disastrous to take chances with finances, or to indulge in extravagance or overzeal Also there is presage of duplicity, fraud or misrepresentation with letters, contracts and documents Intrigue and subtlety abound

A child born on this day although having enterprising tendencies yet may feel a sense of limitation, depression and frustration. It may lean toward doing things the easiest way. It will be kindly and generous, perhaps to the point of overdoing

REPEAL OF SALES TAX OPPOSED BY OHIO C. OF C.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12—The Ohio Chamber of Commerce contends that repeal of the sales tax, as recommended by the Democratic state platform, would cause a "breakdown of the school foundation program" or imposition of new taxes.

The new taxes, members were informed by George B. Chandler, executive vice president, would be one or more of the following: personal income, corporate income, transactions, and 100 per cent assessment of tangible personal property.

TIDES AND MOON NOW IN GERMANS' FAVOR

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Sept. 12—The moon and tide will be in Adolf Hitler's favor for several days running next week if he should decide to try to invade England.

Authoritative sources, basing their predictions on the nautical almanac, said the highest tide for the period is scheduled for 1:03 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 18, induced by a full moon Monday. Wednesday's high tide at Dover is expected to reach 18 feet, 6 inches, compared with a low of 14 feet.

A four-foot difference, these sources remarked, "makes an awful lot of difference." It would, for example, enable some boats to get perhaps a quarter of a mile closer to shore.

It is it seems ... now to use the other power ... government has over in... namely, taxation, to in... duce private corporations to work efficiently for the national defense. But here we are encountering. I venture to suggest, a set of false and self-defeating dogmas. For what appears to be the prime concern of congress and of the administration when they approach the problem of taxes? Is it to devise all possible inducements to bring private industry and private capital to the service of the national defense? Not at all.

This state of mind is a hangover from the days when a naive but pernicious propaganda had branded the armament makers as merchants of death and congress felt it to be its duty to discourage and penalize the firms who take armament contracts But now that the national defense is our main business, surely the sound policy if not to penalize, but, if anything, to favor, those who work for the government rather than carry on business as usual. And that would mean, it seems to me, that the provisions in regard to amortization and the schedules as to taxation of earnings should be framed with a view to offering a premium to those who accept defense contracts and expand facilities for producing armaments. Indeed, if later we are driven to an even greater program of defense, it will be necessary to discourage by penalty taxes and other devices many commercial activities which use labor and materials that may then be neeedd for defense.

We take this opportunity, on our fifth anniversary, to thank our many friends in Marion and its surrounding vicinity for the confidence they have bestowed upon us, and their faith in our ability to serve them. Without these the splendid progress we have made during the past five years could not have been possible.

Carroll's values endeavor to express a sincere appreciation of your patronage.

In our gift and Fostoria glassware department there is an unusually large variety of items from which to make a selection and to meet every occasion. We have searched every mart to find the exceptional combined with the practical to represent a genuine value for the money. These gift items range from 35c to as high as you care to go.

In our silverware department we are in the rare position of representing several well known, nationally advertised lines exclusively in Marion. These are Alvin, Towle, Gorham, and Lunt sterling. Other famous makes available at Carroll's are Rogers 1847, Community Plate, Gorham Plate, and several others. Prices indicate an exceptional value in each instance and range from a few dollars for individual pieces to hundreds of dollars for complete tableware sets of life-time sterling. And too, we stock an exceptional value in 1881 Rogers made by Oneida Ltd. tableware for as low as $14.50 the set.

Carroll's stock of jewelry items and watches is most complete and varied. Costume jewelry is up-to-the-minute and permits a wide selection. Among the watches sold by Carroll's are the famous Hamilton, Elgin, Longines, Gruen and Bulova lines, the quality of which is well known to everyone. Our stock of rings start with the engagement diamond in any size—wedding rings, birth-stones, lodge emblems, etc., in an unlimited variety.

And speaking of diamonds .... Carroll's diamonds are guaranteed to be perfect blue white stones regardless of size.

In fact, anything you can think of in jewelry you can find at Carroll's in abundance and at prices within the range of every pocketbook.

Befitting the present occasion is the number of changes now being made throughout our store to facilitate a more charming atmosphere and a greater convenience for our many friends in making their purchases. The interior decorators have been kept busy for quite some time and we do hope you will make it a point to drop in during the next few days if for no other reason than to look over our stock and see what we are endeavoring to do for your buying pleasure, or to open an account as "The Courtesy of an Account is Available" to those who wish to buy on the budget plan.

Remember, it is your confidence that accounts for the success of Carroll's. We appreciate this and dedicate ourselves to constant vigilance in safeguarding this faith by bringing you the best values possible for the money. Won't you make it a point to drop in to see us?

Cordially yours,

Harold D. Carroll

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Girds Her Courage As She Faces the Ordeal of Visiting the Half-Mad Edith Fairfax.

"SOMETIMES I could wring his neck gladly Katherine said, ignoring Lillian's gibe, "for the trouble he's caused Mary."

I knew that she was remembering, as I was, the weeks and months of mental torture which Mary had undergone before her marriage and afterward because of the apparent machinations against her of Noel's father. There might be some adequate explanation of his actions, but we found that hard to believe

"I know," Lillian admitted gloomily Then she brightened

"I think that's all past now," she said comfortably, "especially since he's publicly accepted Mary in that role, and staged that touching brother and sister act for Noel and Olina"

"I missed that," Katherine said regretfully "I'd have given a finger or, at least, a toe to have seen Olina's face when her future father-in-law pulled that."

"Did that ever burn little Olina up?" Lillian exclaimed with malicious glee "I suppose I ought to feel sorry for the brat but I can't pump up a single half pill of sympathy for her. I never saw anybody get a 'come-uppance' quite as satisfactory as that one"

"You're both hard-hearted wretches," I told them, smiling 'Come along with me upstairs, and we'll ask Miss Whitlock if she's ready to transfer Edith to my study down here"

A Distasteful Task

"Trailing right behind you," Lillian said as I started for the door of the library, and she, with Katherine, kept close to me as I went up the stairs and along the second floor corridor to the door of my room behind which Edith Fairfax lay

There I paused, trying to conquer the shuddering aversion which still was mine at the thought of again seeing the woman who had brought so much unpleasantness into my life, and who was so linked to the mysterious "Babs," unexplained cause of the black mail plot against my husband

"Would you rather wait a bit?" Katherine asked softly, and as I realized that both my friends had seen—and understood—my emotion I stiffened into action

"No I'm ready now," I whispered back and at my low knock, Miss Whitlock's voice sounded a mild, yet unmistakable challenge

'Who's there?" she asked

"Madge Graham," I answered, and we all three heard the gasping eager "Oh!" in Edith's husky tremulous voice It was a sound that almost shattered my resolve to go into the room, but once more I put down my shuddering repugnance, and waited for whatever was to come. Then the nurse spoke again

"Are you alone?" she asked

"Say 'yes'," Lillian murmured, and on the word she and Katherine rushed noiselessly around the corner of the hall

"She Needs You"

"All alone," I answered

"Then come in please" Miss Whitlock said, and I made the mental comment that she evidently did not wish to turn her back upon Edith for so short a space as would be necessary to turn to the door and open it

I acquitted myself of physical cowardice as the reason for my reluctance to go into the room But aside from my repugnance to seeing Edith, there was fear in my heart of the problem behind that closed door definite fear that I might not be able to rescue Edith from her own despair

And despite the assurances of Lillian and Katherine, which my head believed, but my heart didn't there was a more deadly yet vaguely indefinite terror of what might lie behind Edith's insistent and evidently desperate desire to see Dicky

But finally I forced my shaking fingers to a steady clasp of the door knob, and, pushing the door open, entered the room Miss Whitlock moved toward the foot of the bed

"Come over here," the nurse said "She needs you"

Richwood Pupils Eat Lunch in Shifts To Finish Daily Classes at 3 P. M.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD Sept. 12—A new system of taking lunch hours in shifts is being given a trial this week at the Richwood school.

During the fourth period late in the morning and extending until early afternoon half of the teachers and students take their lunch hour and then return to classes while the others take their hour. While the system has been in use only a few days school officials reported the new plan to be far more satisfactory than the old one.

Several improvements were made this year preparatory to the opening of classes. Two additional drinking fountains were installed and the old auditorium was remodeled into a classroom for the ninth grade. A third year course in home economics has been added to the high school curriculum.

Purpose of Plan

R. C. Rehard, superintendent, said the new plan was adopted so that school could close at 3 p. m. instead of 3.35, thus enabling students living in the country to reach their homes earlier in the afternoon. Since the lunch hours now actually are taken during hours that otherwise would be study periods, it is possible for the students to be dismissed 35 minutes earlier in the afternoon.

Supt. Rehard, reported that the enrollment this year is 576, a little lower than the figure last year despite the fact that the eighth grade has been eliminated at the Essex school and those students sent to Richwood.

Football practice has begun and the varsity squad will play their first game with the Harding High reserves in Marion Sept. 19.

Faculty Members

The school faculty for the 1940-41 term includes:

Mr. Rehard, superintendent, guidance and geography; R. L. Miller, principal, physical education and commercial subjects; Mrs. Alta Stearns, mathematics; Miss Pauline Prichard, history and foreign languages; Weimar Hein, English; Mrs. Maxine Hall, commercial subjects and English; G. L. Baker, science and history, R. C. Miller, industrial arts and science, Margin Fogt, music, Miss Edna Burtchin, home economics; Dwight Garber, vocational agriculture, Miss Lois Lowe, sixth grade, Miss Lucille Smith, fifth grade, Mrs. Gladys Eddy, fourth grade, Mrs. Ruth Weller, third and fourth grades, Miss Bernice Martin, third grade, Mrs Blanche White, second grade, Miss Ruth Heath first and second grades and Miss Anna Jones, first grade.

Greenwood Tops Keytown in Second Series Game, 4-0

Homers by Anderson and Marshall Plus Walters' Hurling Win; Friday Night Game Set.

HOME RUNS by Ted Anderson and John Marshall, coupled with the two-hit pitching of Woodrow "Woody" Walters, gave Greenwood, recently crowned Sunday School No. 2 loop titlists, a 4-0 win over Keytown, Industrial league champions, in the second game of the "Little World Series" last night at Lincoln park.

The first three and one-half innings were a pitcher's battle between Greenwood's "Woody" Walters and the Campers' Harold Millisor. Only one hit was made to this point in the game, that being a scratch single when First Baseman Perry Seiter of Keytown beat out a hit to deep short.

The bottom of the fourth told a different tale, however, as Don Cook, speedy Greenwood shortstop, started things off with a double down the third base line. Fetter, the next man up, went down on strikes bringing John Marshall to bat, who promptly popped to short.

Anderson Homers

With two down and the count two strikes and one ball against him, Ted Anderson, slugging center fielder caught hold of one of Millisor's fireballs and lined a fourbagger far out into center field, scoring Cook ahead of him.

The Campers had an opportunity to score in the top of the fifth when the first man up, Clayton "Bud" Harper, stellar backstop, drove a double to left. Walters got his fast ball under control at this point and fanned the next two batters and the third lined to Cook at short.

There was no more hitting until Greenwood's half of the sixth when Cook led off by beating out a hit to short, bringing Marshall to the plate. The timely-hitting third sacker, duplicated Anderson's feat in the third, by smacking a homer, the longest blow of the series, into deep right field to score behind Cook.

It looked as if Greenwood had not had enough scoring when Anderson cracked out a double to left. Catcher Donaugh called a halt to the hitting spree, however, by lining to Perry Seiter at first who in turn doubled Anderson off second to retire the side.

Eleven batters went down swinging before the offerings of Walters while Millisor fanned six and gave five hits, four of which resulted in runs. Both twirlers were steady, each issuing but one base on balls.

Cook Stands Out

Shortstop Don Cook stood out both on offense and defense for the winning Greenies. He paced players of both teams at bat with a double and a single in three trips up and scored both times. On the defense he sparkled on numerous occasions by throwing out Keytown batters on hard hit drives.

Keytown will meet Marion Steam Shovel, Commercial league pennant winners, Friday night and the loser of this game will be eliminated from the series as two losses automatically drop a team. The Diggers lost to Epworth Tuesday night, 4-0.

Greenwood and Epworth, Sunday School No. 1 flag holders, will tangle Monday and the loser of that tilt will meet the winner of Friday's game next Wednesday. The finals will be played next Friday, weather permitting.

Scores by innings and batteries of last night's game follow:

Keytown	000 000 0—0	2 1
Greenwood	000 202 *—4	5 1

Millisor and Harper; Walters and Donaugh.

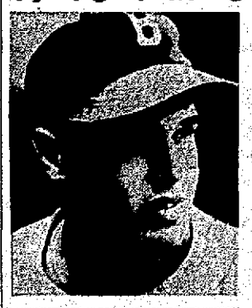
Lima Holds Edge in Playoff

Lima held a two-game edge as the four contestants for the Ohio State league championship headed for their third skirmish tonight.

Lima, defeating Mansfield, 8 to 2, for the second straight time last night, needed only one more victory to clinch a place in the finals. Tiffin edged Findlay, 7 to 5, to even their series at one game each.

1940 All-Star Rookie Squad Tough to Pick



EVERY major league club shared in the bountiful rookie harvest this year and each can offer a sparkling candidate for the all-star rookie team selections, making the picking tough.

Dillon Graham, sports editor of The Associated Press Feature Service, after considering all things, offers the following yearling team, some of whom are pictured above:

First Base—Norman (Babe) Young, Giants.
Second Base—Ray Mack, Indians.
Third Base—Bob Kennedy, White Sox.
Shortstop—Lou Boudreau, Indians.
Left Field—Chet Ross, Bees.
Center Field—Dominic DiMaggio, Red Sox.
Right Field—Bill Nicholson, Cubs.
Catcher—Warren Rosar, Yankees.
Utility—Hal (Peewee) Reese, Dodgers; Frank Gustine, Pirates; Carvel Rowell, Bees.
Pitchers—Sid Hudson, Senators, and Vern Olsen, Cubs.

Others who come close to these are: Joe Orengo, Cardinals; Maurice Van Robays, Pirates; Bob Elliott, Pirates; Walt Judnich, Browns; Mike McCormick, Reds; Hal Newhouser, Tigers; John Gorsica, Tigers; Marvin Breuer, Yankees.

Hudson's selection is remarkable in that the tall right-hander jumped from the Class D Florida State league to the majors in one jump. He was the first rookie to notch 10 victories and had two one-hit masterpieces.

9 Games in Lead, Reds Feel They Can't Lose Now

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 12—The Cincinnati Reds, with their lead boosted to nine games, felt they all but had the National league pennant within their grasp as they faced the first of a three-game series with the New York Giants today.

Second place Brooklyn still had a mathematical chance but if the Reds win 10 of their 20 games the Dodgers will have to take all of their remaining 19 contests to be the champions.

Junior Thompson or Johnny Vander Meer will hurl today against the offerings of Carl Hubbell.

The Reds grabbed two games from the Boston Bees yesterday, 6-0 and 8-1. Bucky Walters' twisters shut out the Bees in the opener and the Cincinnati club's other ace moundsman, Paul Derringer, set the Bostonians down in the afterpiece. It was the 10th victory of the season for both hurlers.

PLAYOFF FINALS NEAR

With Dayton already occupying a finals berth, fans of the Mid-Atlantic league turned their attention to tonight's Akron-Youngstown game. The winner will meet the Wings for the league championship.

KANSAS CITY LOSES, BIRDS FAIL TO GAIN

Columbus Edged by Louisville, 1-0; Millers Climb.

By The Associated Press

The door of the American association championship was still ajar today.

St. Paul saw to that last night by again conquering pace-setting Kansas City. However, second-place Columbus could not edge any nearer despite Frank Melton's three-hit pitching. The Red Birds lost to Louisville and Charley Wagner, 1 to 0.

Only third place Minneapolis was able to take advantage of the situation. The Millers swept a double header with Milwaukee, 11 to 8 and 7 to 6, to gain a percentage tie with Columbus, which remained three and a half games behind Kansas City.

Kansas City and Columbus each have five more games to play and Minneapolis six.

It's Still Anybody's Race As Yankees and Tribe Split

Detroit Takes Slim Lead with 11-7 Victory Over Boston; Sox Visit Indians.

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The hysterical finish of the American league is being compared with the customary September struggle of the National league, but it isn't the same.

There's no crackup in the breath-taking battle that's going on now in the junior circuit, which never has known anything like this in its 40-year history.

For a week, three strong clubs have been grappling for first place, always within a couple of games or less of each other.

Tigers on Top

The Detroit Tigers clawed their way back to the top yesterday by overpowering the Boston Red Sox, 11-7, while the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees divided a doubleheader.

Actually, the three tremendous tussles left the standings in the form they were in Tuesday:

Club	W	L	Pct.	GB	TP
Detroit	78	58	.574		18
Cleveland	77	58	.570	½	19
New York	76	58	.567	1	20
Boston	73	63	.537	5	15

(GB means games behind leader, TP means games to play)

Today, Detroit defends its lead against the world champion Yankees in the first of a three-game series, while the Red Sox and Indians open a similar set in Cleveland.

Detroit had the kind of a ding-dong game yesterday you would expect when the Tigers and Red Sox collide. There were 32 hits off eight pitchers, and the lead teetered until Hank Greenberg hit his 31st homer with one on in the last of the fifth.

The Chicago White Sox caught up with Dutch Leonard, who had handcuffed them five times, and whipped the Washington Senators, 7-4, with a 14-hit assault led by Joe Kuhel.

Elden Auker and George Caster put on five-hit pitching performances, but the St. Louis Browns' hits included a homer, two triples and a double, and they shutout Philadelphia, 3-0.

Reds Boost Lead

The Cincinnati Reds increased their lead in the National league to nine full games by sweeping a doubleheader from the Boston Bees, 8-0 and 8-1, while the Brooklyn Dodgers were losing a pair to the Chicago Cubs, 8-5 and 3-2.

Dizzy Dean stalked back into the National league by hurling six-hit ball for the Cubs' second triumph over the Dodgers. But his sidearm stuff looked about the same as that which he used last spring before going to Tulsa in the Texas league to try to cure his arm trouble. He had good control and varying speed, but none of it like his former fast one.

The slugging St. Louis Cardinals gouged the New York Giants twice, 7-4 and 3-2, getting 17 hits in the opener and taking the nightcap on Terry Moore's home run in the ninth inning.

The Pittsburgh Pirates crushed the Phillies, 9-3, with a five-run flurry in the ninth.

Indians Eke Out Split with Yanks

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Sept. 12 — The Cleveland Indians are positively overflowing with gratitude for old Charlie Ruffing.

Big Red, 36 years old now, softened up just long enough yesterday to allow the Tribe a standoff in a twin bill with the ambitious Yankees. Thus he kept Cleveland pennant hopes alive for the three-game Boston series opening in the big lake front stadium today.

After rookie flinger Ernie Bonham won, Charlie took his 11th setback against 13 victories yesterday.

"I know how to lose," Ruffing says. "I was with Boston six years before I went to New York in 1930."

Bob Feller was beaten in the first game while trying for his 25th decision. In outpitching Feller, Bonham posted his sixth triumph. The 3-1 decision ran to 160 the string of batters Bonham has faced without giving a walk.

The 33,471 noisy fans, some of whom threw lemons, tomatoes and other fruit at Yankee Coach Art Fletcher and Manager Joe McCarthy, made the most of it, turning loose a couple of flares and shooting off guns or firecrackers.

Oscar Vitt, Cleveland manager, told Mel Harder to start against Southpaw Fritz Ostermuller today in the series opener.

ST. MARY GETS

Aerial Attack Expected To Be Used in Daylight Game at Croton.

Coach Bernard Berens sent his St. Mary High school gridders through a light workout this afternoon in preparation for their first game of the season tomorrow when they invade Hartford High school at Croton, O. A squad of 25 Irish gridders will leave Marion by bus at 1:15 p. m. tomorrow for the game, scheduled for 3 p. m.

During the past week Coach Berens has been stressing pass defense and offense. With backs Frank Terzo and Bob McGinnis doing the heaving and ends George Shoup and James Daum and back Ted Schuler on the receiving end, the Saints' aerial attack has been rapidly rounding into shape.

The squad received a heavy blow Monday when it learned that Pat Tobin, 155-pound senior guard who suffered a cracked collar bone in scrimmage, will be out the greater part of the season. This is the second injury that has visited the Irish in preseason drill. John Robbins, stellar first string center, will be out of the lineup indefinitely as a result of a dislocated shoulder.

Carl Werley, 180-pound heavyweight, has been shifted from his post at tackle to Tobin's spot at guard while Tim Kelly has taken over the center of the line in the absence of Robbins.

Edward Hirneise, last year's veteran who tilts the scales at 190 pounds, was in uniform Monday for the first time since he suffered a broken leg in the Lima St. Rose game last year. He will not make the trip tomorrow but it is doubtful that he will see action until after further conditioning.

All members of the team received final physical checkups Wednesday afternoon from Dr. Frank V. Murphy and Dr. J. A. McNamara.

The Berensmen can be expected to use mostly straight power plays tomorrow with a sprinkling of aerial warfare thrown in. Fullback Dave Rochford will do most of the ball toting on the line smashes and Frank Terzo and Ted Schuler will be skirting the ends. Ed Norris is the blocking back. Schuler is ordinarily the field general and signal caller and does a good share of the booting.

Coach Berens will appoint a captain before the game.

Tomorrow's starting lineup as announced by Coach Berens is:

Left End	James Daum
Left Tackle	Jerry Hirnelse
Left Guard	James Pfeiffer
Center	Tim Kelly
Right Guard	Carl Werley
Right Tackle	Frank Huber
Right End	George Shoup
Quarterback	Ed Norris
Left Half	Ted Schuler
Right Half	Frank Terzo
Fullback	Dave Rochford

The Hartford team, coached by Albert Short, former Otterbein football star, is a new foe on the Saint's nine game schedule.

St. Mary makes its first home stand against Tiffin Calvert Thursday, Sept. 19, under the lights at Harding stadium.

The following route for the 50-mile trip to Croton, Licking county, has been mapped out by Coach Berens. It is Route 23 to Delaware, Route 37 to Sunbury, Route 3 to Centerburg and south to Croton. Another and slightly longer route after reaching Sunbury is Route 37 to Johnstown and north to Croton.

FOREST TO OPEN GRID SEASON WITH KENTON

Team Will Invade County Seat Friday Night.

Forest High will meet Kenton Friday in a night game to inaugurate the 1940 football season. With but 18 boys out for the two weeks training before the opening of school and only four more reporting during last week, Coach D. Ray Baum faces a formidable task in shaping the squad for the rangy Wildcat team.

Forest has eight boys who saw action last season. Lieu Baker, Charles Conley and James Shaffer, seniors; Russell Hart, Glenn Marsh, Claire McVitty, James Oelberg and Lee Jay Snider, juniors.

Others who have seen little or no action are Richard Cook, Donald Cooper, Charles Feister, Wayne Forney, Cloyce Grafmiller, David Harman, Cletus Hart, David Karcher, Robert Rickenbacher, Joe Ridgeway, Donald Ritter, Robert Thompson, Karl Wright and Donald Wright.

Experiments until the last hour in order to get the best working combination will not permit announcement of the probable starting line-up.

The team will don their new uniforms of black pants with a gold stripe, gold sweaters and sox and head gears decorated in gold.

The high school band will accompany the team to Kenton along with a host of rooters.

Forest will play at Ada Sept. 20 and will play the first home game against Leipsic Sept. 27.

MANY REGISTER FOR NOV. 5 ELECTION

Oct. 7 Is Deadline To Qualify for Ballot.

Less than a month remains to register for the Nov. 5 election, and indications are that there won't be many citizens ineligible to vote when the big day rolls around.

Since the May primaries it is estimated 175 persons have registered and another 200 have filed notices of change of residence. Recently registration activity has been steady.

Officials are not looking for a rush, since many persons registered in a special registration period early this year before a special city election.

The last day to register or file notices of residence changes is Oct. 7.

Appendix Fallacies

DOES THE appendix ever cause pain by having a spasm?

Long ago when appendicitis was a new word the theory was widely held that the symptoms were due to a grape seed that had entered the appendix. When eating grapes we were admonished not to swallow the seeds—an extremely unpopular piece of advice, because if you extract the seeds of a grape while the grape is in your mouth the result is a bitter taste which entirely spoils the pleasure of grape-eating. A more enlightened opinion later absolved grape seeds of the responsibility of causing appendicitis and pointed out that what the surgeons had been finding inside the appendices were not grape seeds but tiny intestinal stones. So grape-eating was resumed in the more civilized and only proper method of swallowing the grape entire.

A Beautiful Theory

This ancient theory has now raised its head again under a new name—appendiclausis. It means, so we are told, a pain or spasm, simulating acute appendicitis, but caused not by appendicitis, but by an obstruction to the appendix. The muscular layer of the appendix attempts to overcome this obstruction and causes the cramping. The only trouble with this beautiful theory, which is certainly destined to be a great boon to amateur surgeons, is that the appendix has practically no muscles at all. True the text-books show a muscular layer in the wall of the appendix, but this inclusion is due more to haste and habit than to real study. Maximow, in his text-book on histology, says, "The muscular ring of the appendix is poorly developed." Appendiclausis, in our opinion, is rather like the conception of chronic appendicitis — there's money in it for surgeons, but only trouble for everybody else.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. E. M.: "I would like to know what the blood pressure of a woman 39 years old should be. I suffer with severe headaches and wondered if it could be coming from high blood pressure."

Answer—Blood pressure is systolic, which means when the heart is in contraction, and diastolic when the heart is relaxed. So there is a variation in blood pressure seventy-two times a minute. Normally at 39-years of age the systolic should be from 110 to 140, and the diastolic 60 to 90. These variations occur in different perfectly normal individuals. High blood pressure undoubtedly causes a quite characteristic form of headache.
